

Public sector

We know that effective public lighting is a critical service, providing a wide range of benefits to residents, road users and the community.

SSE Enterprise Lighting is the largest external public lighting contractor in Great Britain and Ireland. We work with local authorities, developers and private companies, providing a full range of project management, consultancy, design, installation and maintenance solutions.

We fully understand that keeping the lights on involves balancing complex technical and public demands with environmental issues, and budget constraints.

You can trust our sector expertise to help you develop an end-to-end sustainable solution to your wide ranging external public lighting needs.

Our capabilities also cover complementary highway technology, including traffic signals, CCTV, Automated Number Plate Recognition (ANPR), Real Time Passenger Information (RTPI) and Variable Message Signs (VMS).

Enhancing your community

We will work with you to agree project parameters and present sustainable, cost-effective 'smart lighting' designs. These designs will focus on correctly directing appropriate levels of light to make the night time environment safer and more comfortable for everyone in your community – residents, road users, workers and service providers.

Nationwide coverage, local service

Our network of nationwide offices across Great Britain and Ireland enables us to develop and implement comprehensive services. We are also keen to employ local people to deliver these services.

We have created solid partnerships with many Local Authorities, built upon honesty, openness and co-operation.

Energy and cost savings

We offer a tailored approach, ensuring optimum light levels are achieved through the most energy efficient means. We use safe working methods and implement technological innovations. These innovations include LED white light, Central Management Systems (CMS) and energy saving opportunities through an "Invest to Save" financing methodology.
